Title: Innovative Capital Development - Breaking the Silos

Abstract: Our sector has been shaped largely by government funding systems, policy and regulation. The next stage of reforms create exciting opportunities to break the fuming jam jars and deliver services based on client needs and priority. But the pioneers of this change will face challenges in designing service models for the future, not least of which involve substantial capital investment in new accommodation models. This sessions will focus on work done by industry Leaders in Australia and overseas, encouraging fresh thinking and helping to reduce the risk of breaking the mould!
