

PLENARY SPEAKER

Grant Corderoy – Stewart Brown
Wednesday, 07 September 2016

Bio: Grant is the head of StewartBrown’s expanding Consulting Division. He specialises in a range of services for his clients including undertaking complex accounting assignments, system reviews, management consulting, specialised audits and general business advice. He also has considerable experience in advising clients on the sale and purchases of businesses, business valuations and due diligence. With 40 years’ experience in the profession, Grant has significant professional expertise within the not-for-profit sector including many national aged care and community care providers. StewartBrown are also market leaders in providing financial benchmarking services to the aged care industry.

~ ~ ~ ~ ~

Title: Getting a market edge by the numbers

Abstract: The recent reforms and the reforms to come in a time of increasing demand for aged care services means that there will be continuing challenges, risks and opportunities. With the proper use of data, both financial and other information, providers can minimise their risks and maximise their opportunities. This presentation will examine what data providers should be collecting and how it should be used. It will take lessons from recent reforms and apply them to the future reforms around moving to a market based approach to home care in February 2017, the integration of CHSP in 2018 and consumer directed care in residential care.