

CONCURRENT SPEAKER

Jess Johnson – MDF Group
Wednesday, 07 September 2016

Bio: Jess is the Account Director for MDF Group's Health and Aging division. With a background in Actuarial Studies, Jess brings numerical and risk analysis skills to MDF's extensive experience in Project Management and maintenance of the built environment. After more than 35 years in business, MDF Group continues to deliver on client expectations as a result of specialized staff, an impeccable safety record and accredited project control systems. Their services provide a powerful solution for the Living Environment that is audit friendly, and a proven and scalable platform for best practice, future growth, functional requirements and legislative change.

~ ~ ~ ~ ~

Title: A structured approach to maintenance of the living environment

Abstract: A major part of your compliance and responsibilities as an Aged Care provider is linked to your physical assets. How you manage them provides opportunities to reduce costs and improve your service delivery. Explore how to establish a structured maintenance process that ensures regulatory compliance and reduces overall costs. We discuss how to link maintenance to an Asset Register and retain an auditable data trail of every asset. We explore typical cost leakages and how they can be avoided. Discover how a structured system will maximise the efficiency and effectiveness of the living environment.